

Problem to be solved:

A website for monitoring or for referring all the placement opportunities provided and placement related activities happening in our university which shall be accessible to everyone at the university.

Current Alternatives:

1. In our university IRP cell is managing all the placement related data but not every student gets to know every opportunity being provided by them.
2. Websites like amcat, firstnaukri, myAnatomy and etc are accessible to everyone to know the various opportunities available.

Objectives:

1. We propose implementing a similar functional website such as amcat and the other for our university.
2. To aware all the students about the placement activity happening in our university and to keep them alert regarding their deadlines.
3. To reduce the time delay to aware the students about a particular drive or a test that they need to attend.(Filtering the students and acquiring their mail ids to convey the information can be eliminated which is currently in practice at our university).
